IFAD, Odense, October 27th 2020

The Minister received a briefing on IFAD and our Defence related activities. She expressed the importance of increasing the utilization of simulation in the Danish Defence.

Education and training based on simulation is an effective, safe and secure training vehicle and a green technology that provides substantial economic and environmental savings.

We are very pleased that the Minister gave us a visit despite her busy schedule. In addition, we are very pleased that the Minister shares our point of views in respect to the importance of using simulation as a training vehicle, and that a close collaboration between Danish Defence and the Danish Defence Industry is very important.
